RECURRING ISSUES*

Rules of Conduct During Class:
- Students must be dressed and ready to start dancing by posted time of class or when instructor enters room
 - Once class has started there is no talking/socializing with other students. Please respect the Instructor and give them undivided attention.
- If a student is showing disruptive behavior they will be given a warning. If the problem persists they may be asked to sit out for the rest of class out of respect for the students who are providing full attention and the Instructor as well.
-We are working in a safe space of no judgment. Students are to respect themselves as well as their fellow classmates.
- Students may leave to use the restroom upon request from the Instructor.
-Class is not officially over until the Instructor has properly released the students. It is customary in dance to applaud at the end   of every class to show respect to themselves, other students and the Instructor.
- It is customary to thank instructor after class is released.
-There is absolutely no food, colored drinks, dance bags allowed in the dance rooms.
